What does it take to trade this system?

This is part time professional trading system. You do need to be in tune with the system throughout the day but you don't need to be glued to your computer.

You're not day trading but micro swing trading with 60 min bars. It's quite laid back.

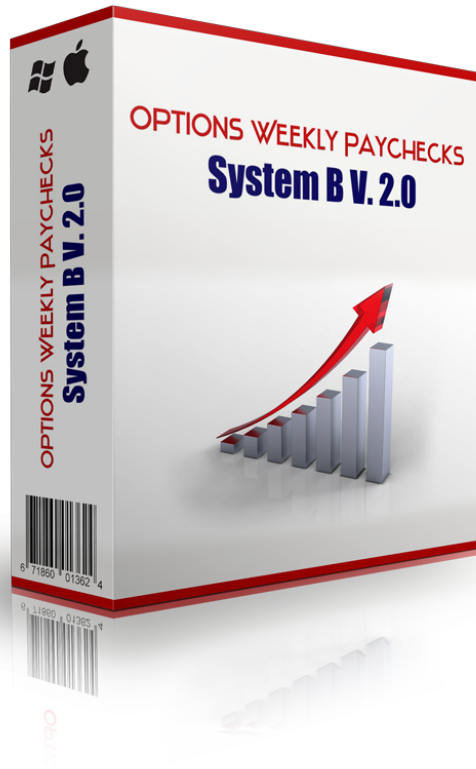

2 Trades a week. Sometimes more.

This allows you to reduced your entry risk considerably which is important for maximizing profits and protecting your capital.

It's a workable system and all you do is simply work the system. Once you see that it can work for you then you just do it until it becomes a habit. Then as your account grows you adjust your position size to coordinate.

How much does it take to get started?

Stick with one stock and get good at that stock. You'll be using short term options so the options are much cheaper. Options can range in price from $100 to $1000 per contract on average.

Look at these OWP B 2.0 System results on just WYNN. This stock isn't anything that special but it's not too shabby either. What are these results? These are the exact system results you would have gotten if you would have traded all the OWP B 2.0 system trades according to the system rules. Simple as that and simply following the system is what it takes.

What's an "options profit point" ? It's the amount of profit made in an option vs. the stock which is roughly about 1/2 of a stock point on average.

Look out for the "Options Profit Points Per Week"

10 Contracts Per Trade

$219,412.00

20 Contracts Per Trade

$438,824.00

50 Contracts Per Trade:

$1,097,060.00

In Just 6 Months of Track Record trading very reasonably priced options on CAT, CLF and WYNN. All entries, stop losses and profit taking exits are crystal clear and your performance should match ours.

What if you simply traded 10 contracts per trade according to the system where no guessing is involved?

Would $286,512.00 in six months replace your job? Do you know that our money management system would have that $286,512.00 in six months considerably more? Could you work this system? Others have before and have enjoyed the system.

What you'll have to do to trade this system:

- Have access to real time data and charts (esignal.com, freestockcharts.com possibly etc...)
- Watch the markets from time to time through out the day. This is NOT a day trading system. You do not have to stare at the ticker. Just check your charts 2 or 3 times in a day, but more so on your target entry days.
- Hit your entries and exits when they occur or use 'contingent orders' to automatically trigger you in or out of an option automatically according to the stock price trigger.
- It's quite simple. You'll need to tune in in order

- to take advantage of the weekly trend money moves.
- Understand that some weeks will be KILLER, ridiculously easy bringing in 300% to even 800% depending on the move and the delta of your options. But also understand that some weeks will be duds simply because the stock isn't moving that week. As a tip: usually stocks move big after slow weeks and slow down after big weeks. If you can understand that principle you can make millions from the markets (since your emotions will want you to do the opposite expecting big moves after big moves and nothing to happen after nothing happens)
 - How to trade the system well: pay attention, stay small and follow our money management position sizing, do the signals and stay simple (i.e. don't try to 'optimize' the system or go more aggressive because you think the markets are going to 'move big' and don't skip signals). So so and you'll likely be shocked (emotionally at least) how the system 'takes care of business' on it's own potentially netting considerable cash flow growth to your trading account

"I just made back the entire cost of the system in my first two positions that were half orders □ I bought puts on IBM and BBY yesterday late morning and cashed out this morning for a quick double on both of them. Thing is, had I gone normal size ($3,000 per order), I would have made $6,000, but I am learning so I went small. Very nice way to start, I really like the system! Thanks again!

best,

"I just wanted to let you know that System B caught that Potash move this morning! I am rich!!!!!"

Thank you so much for giving me this freedom! I don't know how to express my gratitude! I hope someday I can repay your kindness for sharing this system! "

LH

I ended up buying 100 contracts at 1.22 and got out at 25.30 and slightly broke some money management rules but not that bad. 100 contracts is alot for me but I just got so tired of being a wuss and being scared all the time and I figured I just have to do it. I'm definitely feeling the "crack high" but I'm completely out of the position. I've been doubting the system, and maybe my ability to trade the system for awhile, thinking that it was too good to be true. I now (finally!) have to accept that this system works. I was worried it was all a scam in the beginning! I have listened to all of Chris's audios so I remember him saying to own some stuff and pay off debts.

I just have to pay off my car and I will put the rest in the bank. You can use whatever testimonial you would like. You guys are amazing and I'm so thankful for this good fortune."

 Results will vary from student to student depending on the correct use of the system and the actual use of the system. Many never use the system. Some never consistently apply the system. Stock and options choice will vary in the results they product. We can not promise you any future success since we are dealing with price markets. Our, your best bet for success is in taking a chance on a system that has performed well consistently over time in the hopes that possibility and probability that the systems performance, in combination with your performance of that system will do well at the present and into the future... We make no promises or guarantees of future performance whatsoever however good our trading systems & strategies may be at the point in time of performance results. Posted customer feed back was done voluntarily by customer and we did not even ask. We appreciate all feed back from our customers.

Note: typical results or average results will range from lost money for those who break rules and refuse to trade the system correctly to zero for people who don't take any action to some of the customer examples as you see above and to results customers have not told us about. Bottom line: this is trading: you can't 'expect guaranteed results' because that is a losing mindset in trading and it doesn't make any sense to good trading. You get a system to increase your chance, your probability, your potential for success. The only way you could 'guaranteed make money' like past results is to have a crystal ball – the pursuit of which, searching for a crystal ball is a ever losing adventure. Trade right. Trade smart and maybe you could have great success too!

Here is the System Performance of the “Old” version – Version 1.0 – of Options Weekly Paychecks System B Home Study Course: Detailed Breakdown. Compare to Options Weekly Paychecks System

The price of the Options Weekly Paychecks System B v. 2.0 is $4,997 which a paltry fee to charge compared to the results. Doubt me? Ok compare potential returns for this system vs. potential returns for a 4 year Bachelors, even at an Ivy League school (which is running about $200,000 over 4 years these days!) Even if you land the most awesome job ever out of a bachelors get what you get to do for at least 40 hours a week! Work! Yuck. Why not instead trade an hour or two each week (or less!). My point is that 1. Compare costs in dollars and effort and you'll see that we are way under priced (and why do we charge so little in this industry ?? Who set these prices!) 2. If you treat trading as seriously as you would treat a job your potential can be dramatic – Just ask Warren Buffet! 3. In that case maybe you ought to look into hiring a trading boss or coach to make you treat trading seriously! Hmmm...
